

Week of Nutritional Services Oct 29th – Weekly Newsletter Nov 4th

Issue 6

If you have filled out the weekly standing order but can't make it for pick up, please use the cancellation link.

We had an unusually high number of people not pick up meals this week. In order for us to ensure we have enough food without wasting we need an accurate count. Please give us the heads up if you are not able to pick up meals.

We are going to start checking off your name on the "Standing order" link at time of pick up. If you have not been checked off 30 minutes before we shut down at your preferred site, we are going start calling families to remind them. We started a pilot program at one of the school and many families have appreciated the call because they had forgotten it was pick up day.

Winter Break – We still need your input!

We are trying to figure out if you need or want meals during the winter break? We do not normally offer such a program, but under the circumstances, and with our current regulations, we are able to do it at no cost to you. We need to plan and get this figured out soon, so everyone including staff can plan their holidays around the distribution days.

So please fill out this survey and we will decide how/if to proceed with meal distribution during winter break Dec 21-Jan 1st. We only have had 250 people take the survey so unless more people let us know they want meals we may not be able to provide meals to all that need it.

This week we offered a hearty Chicken Pot Pie with a biscuit

We made all the filling here from scratch and it taste great with lots of great ingredients! We hope your kids like it as well. We try our best to send out the best possible homecooked meals we could offer. We hope to keep offering home cooked meals as often as we can.

Thanksgiving week

Yes, we are already getting calls about Thanksgiving week. We will be running a normal schedule that day at the normal times and locations. We are even offering a super cool holiday special, but we will share more closer to the event. For now please plan on the fact we will be "business as usually" November the 25th.
